At the end of the ninth millennium, the small exploration vessel, SEEKER V explodes whilst in a survey orbit round a planet circling a remote star on the edge of the Andromeda galaxy. SEEKER's mission was to look for any traces of a colonizing starship that had disappeared in this area many centuries before. SEEKER's commandant, Dana Hilbert, and her second in command, Captain Susan Huston survive to land safely in the forests of the northern continent.

Soon, they discover that there were survivors from the lost starship, both humans and genetically modified apes... and it is the apes that now rule this world with brutal force...

Now the part 2
